Homily Helps

† Scripture Passages:

Acts 1: You will receive power when the Holy Spirit comes upon you, and you will be my witnesses in Jerusalem, through Judea and Samaria, and to the ends of the earth.

Ephesians 1: May the eyes of your hearts be enlightened, that you may know what is the hope that belongs to his [the Father of glory] call, what are the riches of glory in his inheritance among the holy ones, and what is the surpassing greatness of his power for us who believe.

(or)

Ephesians 4: I urge you to live in a manner worthy of the call you have received...striving to preserve the unity of the Spirit through the bond of peace: ... and he gave some ... to equip the holy ones for the work of ministry, for building up the body of Christ....

Mark 16: Go into the whole world and proclaim the gospel to every creature. ... They went forth and preached everywhere, while the Lord worked with them and confirmed the word through accompanying signs.

† Comments for the Day:

Jesus' ascension was not a departure from us but rather a manifestation of his confidence in us. He told the apostles that it was better that he leaves them than stay with them bodily. He did not want them, or us, to just stand-by, relying on him to do all that is needed for God's creation to flourish. Rather he relies on us to take care of one another and of creation. He accompanies us now out of sight, but he is not AWOL. Jesus is always with us, guiding us, empowering us, saving us, ... and the world.

We are called to be among the witnesses needed today. As we believe in Jesus who spoke the truth, our world needs to believe in the truths scientists are telling us about what's happening to our environment and what's needed to keep it healthy. When Jesus' disciples asked him why he spoke in parables, he told them "Because people look but do not see and hear but do not listen or understand." In short, they didn't get it and they didn't want to change. They refused to be enlightened by him because they didn't want to get going and undergo conversion. So, with us today: we don't want to change our lifestyle, so we dismiss the warnings of scientists.

Jesus' commission was for his disciples – us – to "go into the whole world and proclaim the gospel to every creature." Today that means we have to pay attention to what is happening to “every creature,” all the species of plants and animals on earth which are important participants in life on earth, including us, you and me. We are all interconnected. We have to take good news to them indeed and enable them to flourish rather than make them extinct by our indifference and neglect.

† Passages from *Laudato Si':

Our insistence that each human being is an image of God should not make us overlook the fact that each creature has its own purpose. None is superfluous. The entire material universe speaks of God’s love, his boundless affection for us. Soil, water, mountains: everything is, as it were, a caress of God. (#84)

We need to stop thinking in terms of ‘interventions’ to save the environment in favor of policies developed and debated by all interested parties. (#183)

In any discussion about a proposed venture, a number of questions need to be asked in order to discern whether or not it will contribute to genuine integral development [of people, plants, and animals]. ... For example, ... water is a scarce and indispensable resource and a fundamental right that conditions the exercise of other human rights. (#185)

When significant new information comes to light, a reassessment should be made with the involvement of all interested parties. (#187)

I (Pope Francis) am concerned to encourage an honest and open debate so that particular interests or ideologies will not prejudice the common good. (#188)
